The Gundecha Brothers belong to one of Dhrupad's oldest and most illustrious musical lineages (Dagar Vani) and received their training from Zia Fariduddin Dagar and Ustad Zia Mohiuddin Dagar, the renowned Rudra Vina masters. Since 1985 the Gundecha Brothers have performed frequently in more than 20 countries, achieving international critical acclaim and taking their place among India's most talented and dedicated artists. They have more than 25 commercial recordings to their credit, including an award winning Dhrupad soundtrack for the environmental film "Raga of River Narmada." When not touring and performing, the Gundechas devote themselves to teaching Dhrupad at their international school of music in Bhopal, India and at the prestigious Shri Ram Bhartiya Kala Kendra in New Delhi.
